Strike Grips France, Pay Hikes Asked

High Living Costs Protested As New Crisis Hits Nation

PARIS (U)—A nationwide strike gripped France today in the midst of what newspapers called the most serious political crisis since World War II.

All the big unions except the socialist Workers' Force were called out to protest the high cost of living and to demand more pay.

The nation's transportation network was almost completely halted. Workers in heavy industry, metal plants, shipyards and docks stayed away from their jobs. Almost every segment of the French economy was affected.

Many of the striking workers milled about in the streets. Reinforced patrols of security police stood by in case of trouble.

One worker was killed yesterday and a hundred injured, most of them slightly, in a battle between shipyard strikers and police at the Atlantic port of St. Nazaire. The clash there followed almost a month of rotating wildcat work stoppages.

There were signs the massive labor protest might help the divided National Assembly to agree on Socialist Guy Mollet as France's 24th postwar premier.

Mollet's chances to win Assembly approval were bolstered by a decision of the Catholic Popular Republicans (MRP) to support him. He already had the backing of his own Socialist party, the moderate Radical Socialists and some splinter groups.

These should give him enough Assembly votes to form a government—barring the ever-present political winds.

The strike today was France's second big labor trouble in 10 days. Utility workers walked out for 24 hours last week, shutting off gas and electricity. Those services seemed to be holding up normally this time.

Used Planes, Autos

Two Suspects Seized In Fantastic Holdup

TAMPA, Fla. (U)—Two bandits, using a fast shuttle of planes and automobiles, robbed the First State Bank of Fort Meade of $26,657 at gunpoint yesterday.

One man was arrested at a Tampa airport and another in an auto accident several hours after the robbery released a captured constable and escaped in a running gunfight with pursuers.

Sheriff Ed Blackburn said Irvin Suits, 26, arrested in a car mishap, admitted he took part in the holdup and named Donald J. Thompson, 32, as his companion. Thompson denied any knowledge of the crime.

Suits confessed after several hours questioning and identification by three witnesses that he and Thompson had planned the holdup and practiced the plane maneuvers. Suits was reported ready to lead police to the place the money was hidden.

Thompson is a pilot for a Tampa construction firm. He was arrested at Tampa International Airport as he returned a Cessna airplane belonging to the firm and matching the description of one used by the bandits.

Suits, a Tampa airplane broker, was picked up after his car was involved in an accident in Tampa. In the car were two pairs of coveralls similar to those worn by the robbers.

Polk County Judge Chester M. Wiggins charged the men with armed robbery and auto theft. Fort Meade is in southern Polk County, about 35 miles southeast of Tampa.

Two planes were involved—the Cessna and an Aerona stolen at Gilbert Field in Winter Haven by one of two men who flew to the field in the Cessna.

Apparently the men separately flew the planes to a small field at Plant City, went together in the Aerona to Fort Meade, returned to Plant City after the holdup, left the Aerona there and flew the Cessna back to Tampa.

U.N. Debate On Mideast Is Reopened

Showdown Between Russia, U. S. Due On "War" Charges

By TOM HOGGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (U)—Russia and the United States squared off again today for resumption of the U.N. Assembly's debate on the Turkish-Syrian crisis. Each of the two big powers sought to prove the other responsible for the new flareup in the cold war.

Syria kept the pot boiling with a charge that five Turkish planes flew over her territory.

Aerial Trespass Charged

A government spokesman in Damascus said four Turkish aircraft, flying at only 600 feet, trespassed over Syrian territorial waters off Latakia, the port where Egyptian troop reinforcements landed recently. The spokesman said a fifth plane flew over Kameishi, in northeast Syria.

Convinced that Syria will not accept a mediation offer by Saudi Arabian King Saud, Western delegates marshaled new arguments intended to prove that Russia cooked up the crisis as a propaganda vehicle to discredit the United States.

Russia in turn has accused the United States of goading Turkey into war against Syria in an effort to split the Arab world.

Syria made plain she would press demands that the 42-nation Assembly appoint a U.N. inquiry commission as soon as possible to investigate the border situation. The United States wants the commission to have the broader task of ferreting out who is behind the crisis.

An informed source said the leaders of the 11 Arab nations' delegations met behind closed doors yesterday. One of the more moderate members reportedly suggested a resolution calling on both Turkey and Syria to pull back any abnormal troop concentrations on the border.

Give Reason For Refusal

Syria has contended, however, that she is not at fault and needs no mediation. This was given in Damascus as a reason for refusing to accept mediation.

Syrian Delegate Farid Zeinedine said last night "mediation was not offered at any time nor was it accepted." A Saudi Arabian source said Saud felt Syria accepted and then retracted but the offer still stands. Turkey accepted and sent a delegation to Saudi Arabia.

Living Costs Climb Again

WASHINGTON (U)—The cost of living rose by one-tenth of one per cent during September, the 13th monthly advance in a row, the Labor Department reported today.

The department's consumer price index rose to 121.1 per cent of the 1947 average. That was an increase of 3.4 per cent from a year ago.

Evan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics, said the cost of living would probably remain fairly stable during the next three months. He foresaw the possibility of a definite downturn in January.

Output for the corresponding period in 1956 was 10,341,000 tons. Production for the Jan. 1-Oct. 1957 period was estimated at 396,596,000 tons against 399,665,000 tons a year ago.

WASHINGTON (U)—Biluminous production for the week ended Oct. 19 totaled about 9,893,000 tons against 9,910,000 tons in the week ended Oct. 12, the National Coal Assn. estimated today.

Output for the corresponding period in 1956 was 10,341,000 tons. Production for the Jan. 1-Oct. 1957 period was estimated at 396,596,000 tons against 399,665,000 tons a year ago.

Gunmen Kill Gang Boss In Barber Chair

NEW YORK (U)—Albert Anastasia, gangland chieftain, was shot and killed today by two masked men in a hotel barber shop.

The killers invaded the barber shop as Anastasia sat in a chair. They fired directly at him, police said, and then fled.

The Park Sheraton, formerly the Par Central Hotel, was the scene of another murder a generation ago—that of gambler Arnold Rothstein.

Anastasia, 53, had lived a charmed life—until today. He beat five different murder charges, as well as an attempt on his life six years ago.

After the 1931 attempt to kill him, the New York Antiracket Committee reported that he had been ordered to get out of town or face gangland execution.

Police at the scene declined to give immediately any details except that the dead man had been seated in a barber chair.

The barber shop was cleared of everyone except police. Through the shop's glass doors reporters could see the body of the black-haired victim on the floor. The victim lay on his back.

Anastasia was a native of Italy who gained entrance to the United States by smuggling himself ashore in New York in 1917.

He was one of four brothers who repeatedly have been linked to crime in this country.

Anastasia was reported to have begun his crime career here as a member of the Mafia, a criminal society of Italians, shortly after his arrival. In 1921 he was convicted of racketeering.

Red Spy Case Goes To Jury In U. S. Court

NEW YORK (U.S.)—A federal jury begins deliberating today the fate of accused Soviet master spy Rudolf Ivanovich Abel, who could be sentenced to death on conviction.

Judge Mortimer Byers was scheduled to charge the panel at court opening before turning the case over to the jury to consider the three-count indictment against Abel.

The most serious count—and the one carrying a possible death penalty—accuses the alleged Russian agent of conspiring to steal U. S. atomic and military secrets for the Kremlin.

Abel is the first foreign national to be tried by a U. S. civil court on espionage charges.

Defense and prosecution quickly completed their summations yesterday.

Assistant Attorney General William F. Tompkins declared that Abel was a "cunning, highly trained espionage agent, a master spy, a real pro" and said he "deserves no sympathy." He asked for the death penalty.

WASHINGTON (U)—A Sears Roebuck & Co. vice president today accused Nathan Shefferman and some executives of the big mail order house of "disgraceful" unfair labor practices against labor union organization efforts at its Boston store in 1953.

But Wallace Tudor, vice president in charge of personnel and employee relations for the company, told the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee these were "glaring exceptions" to Sears' over-all history of dealing with its 235,000 workers.

Hoffa Angry By AFL-CIO Ouster Move

WASHINGTON (U)—The Bakers and United Textile Workers unions report their corruption cleanup efforts today to AFL-CIO leaders who must decide whether to put them in labor's penalty box with the rebellious Teamsters.

The Federation's Executive Council voted 25-4 yesterday to suspend the 1½ million member Teamsters Union, the nation's largest labor organization.

The suspension from AFL-CIO membership will hold good until the truck drivers' union ousts James R. Hoffa, its president-elect, and otherwise rid itself of alleged corrupt elements.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president directing labor's anticorruption campaign, said that unless these reforms are accomplished quickly, the Teamsters will face formal expulsion from the Federation at the AFL-CIO convention in December.

Hoffa angrily declined any comment on the AFL-CIO suspension decision as he stomped out of Federation headquarters. Earlier, Hoffa had said the Teamsters could go it alone outside the main body of labor if forced to do so.

Like Hoffa and the Teamsters, the Bakery Workers and United Textile Workers have also been under a steady drumfire of corruption charges from the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee, headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.).

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union for ever—Morris.

Balance Of Power

IN THE FIRST TWO years after World War II, Western Europe lay nearly prostrate. Its lands ravaged by Hitler, its resources spent in battle or stolen, it beckoned to any conqueror. A prospective conqueror stood at the gates—the Soviet Union. Itself worn down by war, Russia nevertheless was a colossus alongside the West. Its great armies were in being, its colonizing Communist parties were flourishing and worming their way into governments. Its ego was flushed by victory. No great genius was required to gauge how the world balance of power would swing if Western Europe fell under Soviet dominion. At this critical turn, the United States stepped in at the side of Europe to bar the conqueror's way. The imaginative, unprecedented Marshall Plan was born. The flattened nations of the West were lifted toward economic recovery.

THEN FOLLOWED the North Atlantic Treaty to forge a Western military solidarity resting upon the new economic base. Russia was checked. With our heavy development of nuclear weapons thrown into the scales, the balance of power remained firmly with America and its free friends. Slowly, however, the balance shifted toward gigantic statecraft. Russia entered the nuclear field earlier than expected. Emerging peoples in Asia and Africa pulled out of the Western orbit toward neutrality. Europe, feeling the strain of long-maintained defense, cut back its forces. Today that stalemate may or may not still exist. The important thing to know is that the Russians—and a lot of other people around the world—are behaving as if it did not. They are acting as if the balance of power had turned toward the Soviet Union. Their triumphs with the man-made satellite and major missiles account for this shift of behavior and attitude. Whether or not the Russians truly believe they have significant advantage, unmistakably they intend to try to persuade the world they do have it.

FOR THE UNITED States and the West, therefore, this could be the most critical moment since Europe was flat on its back at the close of World War II. Whether we are merely to correct an impression that Russia now surpasses us in vital areas of strength, or whether we must actually come from behind, our tasks are incredibly difficult. The world plainly will not be won to new confidence in the United States by anything less than spectacular new developments in the nuclear, missile, and other military-scientific fields. Without that, any propaganda and diplomacy are not likely to make much headway. Yet there is also great need for fresh achievement in these realms. Signs are strong that our diplomacy not only is failing to win the uncommitted peoples but that it is not reassuring our friends. This is not a time for standing still. The price of immobility could be to learn, to our sadness and our peril, that the balance of power has in truth swung against us and toward totalitarian communism.

Fierce Winters

MOTHER NATURE is about to play a dirty trick on Grandpa. As is well known, Grandpa—and we speak in the collective sense—has been bragging for years about how tough the winters were when he was a boy. This has given him a great psychological advantage over us Johnny-come-latelys, who have been forced to admit that winters in our time didn't seem to measure up to those of half a century ago. But now, woe for poor Grandpa, it seems that Grandpa-type winters are going to make a comeback. So, at least, says Dr. Hurd C. Willett, professor of meteorology at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. After some 40 years of gradually warming winters, says Dr. Willett, a turning point seems to have been reached and we are in for some years of colder and colder winters. Grandpa's only hope of retaining his title as undisputed fierce winters champion lies in the possibility that he may have exaggerated just a teeny bit in describing the mighty snow drifts and frozen rivers of yore. There is a chance—a pretty good one, we'd say—that his descriptions of those rugged days will continue to surpass anything that Mother Nature can throw at us in years to come.

Northern Demos Ignore Party In South

WASHINGTON — The Democratic party organization that represents the part of the country which must be relied upon to win the 1960 Presidential election was lucky in the timing of its recent sessions here.

This is the Democratic Advisory Committee, which includes such nationally and internationally known notables as ex-President Truman and Adlai Stevenson.

It has become recognized as the spokesman for the national party outside the South, that vast territory where the votes must be found if Democrats are to return to the White House as well as hold Congress.

Timing and circumstances helped this group to pre-empt the spotlight and reduce to size the Southern wing of the party which recently has suffered such bad publicity in the Little Rock school integration episode. That, in turn, affected the whole party.

The National Advisory Committee met under circumstances politically advantageous.

PRESIDENT Eisenhower was under the first vigorous attack on his personal leadership because of our lagging behind Russia in missile and rocket development and in launching an earth satellite.

In this area the President is peculiarly vulnerable because, until he became President, his whole career was in military defense.

Indeed, a strong factor in the overwhelming support he won when he entered politics was the claim made for him of the value of his familiarity with our defense problems in times of international tension and stress. Voters were asked to take him on faith—and they did.

That responsibility has intensified attacks on him at a time when the long and untroubled calm of prosperity on the home scene is being rudely upset by the nagging stock market and continued complaints about inflation and the relentlessly steady rise in the cost of living.

The missile and satellite stories, pushed Little Rock into the background and took the limelight off of the Southern Democrats.

ASIDE FROM the political advantage to the Democrats in the Eisenhower Administration's current dilemma in defense and foreign policy, the Democratic Advisory Committee was favored by other circumstances.

It had the whole stage here to itself. Congress was not in session and Southern Democrats who dominate the party there were nowhere visible.

All of them, in fact, went underground literally when the Little Rock crisis was raging, not daring to raise their heads, or their voices—all that is, except the few recognized extremists who thundered their defiance to President Eisenhower when he called out the troops.

This left the field clear for non-Southern party leaders on the Democratic Advisory Committee to defy the Southern wing once again, as they did a few weeks ago.

They came out boldly for support of the Supreme Court's public school integration decision and, beyond that, advocated still more civil rights legislation in the next Congress. They slugged President Eisenhower, too, for his indecision at the outset of the Little Rock episode.

WHAT HAS now happened is that party leaders outside the South have made it plain they are done with appeasement of Southern leaders who can go ahead and form a third party if they choose. The Northern leaders are resigned to whatever risk is involved. In truth, it could turn out to be not as big a gamble as Southerners would like to make it appear.

Democrats have nothing to fear from Republicans in the South as a result of President Eisenhower's dispatch of troops to Little Rock. Everybody agrees on that.

As for a third party, which would be based on only one issue, many Southern Democrats might decline to support it, as happened in 1948 in the case of the Dixiecrats.

The dominant issue of that third party was its opposition to civil rights legislation. However, it was able to split off only four Southern states from President Truman, who won re-election despite this Southern defection.

IT APPEARS now that Democratic National Chairman Paul H. Butler was foresighted and performed a service for his party when, a few months back, he created the advisory committee to speak for the national party.

It likewise now seems likely that this enterprise was snubbed by the two Southern leaders in Congress—Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn and Senate leader Lyndon B. Johnson.

For this committee, which offers a platform to such recognized national leaders as former President Truman and Adlai Stevenson as well as other prominent figures in the Northern wing of the party, has divorced itself of Southern influence and has established itself as a spokesman for the national party.

It can speak up to offset Southern leaders in Congress when it plain they are acting and speaking only for the South.

Russia Always Puts Squeeze On Turks

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Three principal factors are seen here in Russia's new cold war blitz against Turkey and in support of Syria.

Turkey is now nearing the end of a national political campaign. Elections on Oct. 27 will choose 610 members of a new Parliament. There has been little doubt that the Democratic party of Premier Adnan Menderes, which now has an 80 per cent majority in Parliament, will be returned to power for a third term.

From the Moscow point of view, no party in Turkey could be more opposed to Russian ambitions in the Middle East than the Menderes government has been.

Foreign policy has not been an issue in Turkish politics. All parties are more or less agreed on strong ties with the West. There are no Communist or left-wing parties in Turkey.

But by a war of nerves directed against its southwestern neighbor at this time, Russia may have had some hope of catching the Turkish government off balance and unable or unwilling to take strong actions.

MOST OF THE Middle East was formerly part of the old Turkish empire. It was from Turkey that Syria, Lebanon and Egypt won their first liberation, as French and British protectorates.

Most people of the Middle East still regard the Turk as an ancient enemy, even though the Turkish people themselves overthrew the old Ottoman dynasties and established a modern, working democracy.

By trying to make Turkey the scapegoat villain of the Middle East, the Russians are simply making another form of appeal for support from the Arab people.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK—Once in a lifetime or three someone comes along and gives a party for 18,000. This is roughly 17,000 more than went to the Bradley Martin Ball, where the phrase "The Four Hundred" was born. In any case, here at dawn, it seems well to render a report on the Mike Todd Ball, a cozy little intimate moment in Madison Square Garden.

This is the party, as everyone knows, in which a man who makes movies announced "an intimate little affair for a few friends" five weeks ago and now looks!

A Prince of Siam (for maybe it was the King) flew over 40 coils of the realm as gifts, some caterer, seized up in a moment of hysteria, provided 200 gallons of vichyssoise free and so on down the line, including enough free champagne to float Madison Square Garden itself.

The place reeked with it, while the bands played on and the best-dressed party buffs in Manhattan tried to appear nonehappier. This is hard to do when 18,000 others are doing the same thing.

THE FIRST thing one saw on entrance, having rested briefly for a few hours at a new musical called "Copper and Brass," was Sir Cedric Hardwicke—a good old Butch himself—riding on the back of an elephant.

Any party that can hoist Sir Cedric atop a live elephant has nothing to worry about. This is the kind of moment when there is nothing to do but look up and wave and say: "Hi, Butch," and move on. But not before Sir Cedric looks down and says: "Beastly evening, old boy."

MOVING ON, one encounters a genuine cake which seems to be about 11 feet high and 9 feet wide, iced in a blue compatible with TV camera and their lenses, and struggling up wide white steps designed to let her knife into it is Miss Elizabeth Taylor, bride of the lost.

Miss Taylor is ravishing as a cake-cutter and managed to stab into this monstrously without falling in it. If she ever had fallen in, she'd have drowned. During this ceremony, shoals of pretty girls moved about with trays of champagne and innocent smiles. Manufacturers of various desirable articles such as yachts, airplanes, motor cars, motor scooters, toasters, ranges, penknives and other items had pressed on Mr. Todd a quantity of their goods for free distribution. All you had to have was a lucky number and most people hoped they would be lucky enough to win either the yacht or the airplane.

There is something unwieldy in a prize like this and the average person would not know what to do with it. I don't remember who did win these items, but they are welcome.

Me, I had my eye on an Italian scooter, one out of 60-odd on view, but it didn't work out that way. My bride wanted a new car. That didn't work out, either. But Todd just about kept his boast that every guest of 18,000 of them would leave with a prize of some kind. We all did—or almost all.

TV SQUADRONS and the news photographers prowled this arena like winter wolves on a Montana stock range. The reporters, who either are more sagacious or arrange their assignments better, held to the sidelines near the founts of beverage. Not for them the crush of 18,000. They could write this story without getting their heads battered or their ribs mangled. They had a sane aloofness.

Miss Taylor had had the wit to advise all the ladies to wear short evening gowns, since in a mob of this nature any girl equipped with a long one would be likely to have it trampled from her frame. Miss Taylor made this announcement after experience. She lived through the London counterpart of the Manhattan Donnybrook only by clutching her long gown to her and huddling in a corner.

Nonetheless, it was a good party, a fine party, noisy, bumptious and opulent. You hardly ever get invited to parties where they give away yachts and airplanes, cars and mink stoles. For all I know this may be the last such party this old world, or even just Manhattan, will ever see.

Maybe it's just as well.

Gravy Squirter Confused

OTHMAN—times edit pg Friday..

WASHINGTON—It is my opinion that any firm which manufactures frozen TV dinners and brags about it deserves whatever the Senate Labor Rackets Committee may do to it.

I once ate a frozen TV dinner in front of a neighbor's television screen, and the food looked gray in the dimmers. Tasted that way, too.

This dinner had been congealed in a tin foil tray with humps in it to keep the mashed potatoes from skidding into the mound of frozen dressing with sliced turkey out in the oven and served it in the dark while Perry Como warbled.

THE WAY I hear it, thousands of ladies in this land of the free and easy serve such colorless comestibles nightly to their young. Some of these sprats now are eight years old and they still don't know what is the color of a tomato.

The frozen meal is, of course, nourishing. It is sanitary and it makes the cook unnecessary. She doesn't even have to wash dishes. Other than that I can say nothing good for the frigid TV dinner.

THIS BRINGS us then to the Morton Frozen Food Company, of Louisville, Ky., which manufactures icy dinners and frozen pies in widely scattered freezeries, including one at Webster City, Iowa. That's where the Senators currently are snooping.

Seems that in 1955 in Webster City 300 pie and/or dinner makers placidly were stewing the stuff in the freezers when in came Gene Peterson to organize "em into the United Packing House Workers of America. He got nowhere.

MANAGEMENT called Nate Shefferman, the original I-can-get-it-for-you-wholesale man from Chicago, to send down one of his labor experts to give that union the old leave-ho. He did a job, mostly by organizing a company union called "We, The Morton Workers."

This had two members, one of whom testified that as a labor organization it was a phony. It did not put anti-union literature, however, and when the election came, the union lost.

About that time Morton sold out. sians wanted to use their undoubtedly superior forces, they could smash their way across the 225 miles of eastern Turkey to reach Syria.

The Turks would give them a fight, but this is not considered the principal deterrent. Any Russian move across eastern Turkey today would unquestionably start World War III. The United States has already given its word, as a NATO partner, to come to Turkey's aid if she is attacked.

The outlook, therefore, is regarded here as one of increasing tension without any deliberate outbreak of hostilities which nobody really wants.

The greater fear is that the shooting might start by accident, in a border incident, and spread.

the pie and the TV dinner business to the Continental Baking Company of New York, a mighty concern with numerous factories around the country. All of these were organized under the Bakery and Confectionary Workers Union.

THE NEW owners thought their Iowa plant also should be a union shop, and there was the local management, which had fought so bitterly against a union, now being forced to urge the workers to join. This may seem funny now, but it was rough in Webster City.

Consider the man who turned the valve that squirted the gravy into the chicken pies.

In 1955 his bosses persuaded him that unions were no good. In 1956 they were telling him that unions were a swell idea. He was what you might call confused. The campaign wasn't going so well.

SO THE powers-that-be called on Shefferman again and he came up with another operative, who favored unions. He also seemed to favor shenanigans. Certain employees who didn't want to be union bakers and confectioners found themselves in jobs they didn't like. A few others got fired and eventually the plant was organized.

Now the National Labor Relations Board is pondering the situation. The investigators under Senator John L. McClellan are taking embarrassing evidence and, as I say, anybody who foists TV dinners off on the populace, no matter how good the values, deserves what he gets.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK — You never realize how many roots you put down in a place until you have to pull them up and move on.

I found this out the other day when, during a routine office switch, I was moved from the fourth floor to the sixth floor.

Any change in a modern office, however, has a quality of melodrama about it, and it turned out to be a long, long journey from old desk to new desk. I'm sure Columbus had a simpler voyage.

FIRST, IS THE task of dealing with the busy bees who buzz you in search of "the hidden meaning." They ask such questions as:

"Why are they kicking you upstairs? Or is it really upstairs?"

"What's the matter? Doesn't the boss feel you were earning your rent here?"

"Who're they going to move next? Has there been a change of company policy?"

Patiently you explain the change is a routine one and means absolutely nothing. This leaves them vaguely dissatisfied.

The second problem is your faithful old desk. Naturally you would prefer to open its seascreeks and watch it sink slowly through the floor. Or at the least put a bullet through its faithful linoleum—covered forehead as you murmur, "So long, old pardner."

Cleaning out my desk and file cabinets turned out to be a three-day task, and a strange and wonderful journey into the past. The things a man finds out about himself!

There were such quaint memorabilia as:

Two ticket stubs to "Tobacco Road."

Three empty aspirin boxes and a lone lost vitamin pill, pale from lack of sunshine. Several six-cent butts of two-bit cigars, hidden away against a rainy day.

A blue and white button emblazoned "Stevenson-Kefauver."

A key to the city of Miami Beach, and a mela lifetime pass to the Cole Brothers Circus.

THE THIRD problem is the disposal of your property. You are a bit surprised to find how many of your nearest neighbors secretly have coveted your wastebasket, your seat cushion and, yes, even your calendar.

You give these goodies away, say farewell to your pals, pat your fine old swivel chair on its loyal shoulders, stifle a tear, and march out.

"Sixth floor, please," you say as you step into the elevator.

It is only 75 feet as the termite crawls from your old desk to your new desk, but in a modern office that can be the difference between Earth and Mars.

As the elevator mounts you are aware you have left one world behind you forever, and you wonder what the new world will be like on the new floor.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON — Her Majesty departs, and Her Majesty's First Minister arrives. I would not suggest that Queen Elizabeth came here first to soften us up, although it is true she left us in a state of putty-like delirium, but I keep wondering, in my base-born way, if there could have been anything more than coincidence in the order of the visits.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan can request almost anything of us this week and we would feel we were repaying the Queen's graciousness with scrupulous if we turned him down, or even questioned a request.

THE THOUGHT that disturbs me most is that we have no set-up for returning visits in kind. The British Minister of State for Foreign Affairs, Cmdr. Allan Noble, lifted his noble voice in the United Nations the other day with the suggestion that President Eisenhower now repay the British by going to England. But like would have no equivalent for preparing the way for him.

He could, of course, send the Louisiana yan queen, or the Pittsburgh malleable iron queen, as an advance softener, but I doubt if she would leave Britain as putty for Eisenhower as Her Majesty left us for Macmillan.

We are now in a state of blissful languor from the Queen's visit, which means we are too relaxed to be much of a match for her Prime Minister. It reminds me of a time, in the earlier stages of our diplomatic negotiations with the U.S.S.R., when we sent agitators to Moscow. Our emissaries spent the life-long night trying to uphold their own bottoms-up toasts with beaming Russians they assumed were to be their fellow negotiators.

Next day they arrived at the conference table, blearily hung-over with vodka, to discover that Russia had sent in its drinking team the night before, and that the squad they now were facing was the working team, all fresh to outconfer them.

Even if we had a captivating lady we could send on ahead of Eisenhower we still would be up against unequal odds because we don't have a Prince Philip to accompany her.

PRIME MINISTER Macmillan is here; the script from the White House says, to confer with the to pool our scientific knowledge on satellites and guided missiles. I hear that we are more amenable to this than we were before Russia launched its Sputnik, but I still feel that Mr. Eisenhower is going into the twosome with his backslowing appreciably shortened.

If nothing else, the President has been lulled by English accents. With the Prime Minister immediately replacing Her Majesty as a house guest, Mr. Eisenhower has not heard English pronounced in the American way for so long it has probably disrupted his schedul.

I don't know what President Eisenhower intends to do about either his painting or his golf while the Prime Minister is here. He painted a portrait of little Prince Charles during his sojourn and presented it to the Queen. If he now takes the time to paint one of Macmillan his golf may suffer, and the country be in a more parlous condition than ever.

He does not paint while golfing, despite loose "clubhouse

Russians Fail To Get Hotel Reservations

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. 18 — Four Russians seeking to learn more about the United States learned a harsh American truism tonight: You're sunk without hotel reservations when a convention is in town.

Their arrival by car from Morgantown, W. Va., this afternoon coincided with the opening of a regional meeting of the West Virginia Education Assn. Parkersburg hotel rooms were solidly booked by school teachers.

The four officials from the Soviet Embassy in Washington had planned to spend the night here before going on to Zanesville, Ohio.

After several unsuccessful attempts to find accommodations, they were considering driving to the Ohio city tonight.

Led by Embassy Counselor Vladimir Lavrov, the officials visited the YMCA, public library and offices of the Parkersburg News and Sentinel. They had planned to visit the high school tomorrow morning.

Lavrov, in an interview at the newspaper office, pictured Russia as eager for peace.

Four Nabbed In Car Parts Theft Ring

ROCKVILLE, Md. 18 — Four Maryland men have been arrested in connection with thefts of about $18,000 worth of automobile equipment, Montgomery County police reported today.

"They had a regular business," Det. Sgt. Stanley Harding said. He added that tires were sold for $10 each, batteries for $5 and spark plugs for 25 cents.

The men are accused of thefts from auto supply stores and service stations in Montgomery, Prince Georges, Charles and St. Marys counties and at Culpeper and Manassas, Va.

Charged with grand larceny and housebreaking are Ralph E. Lamot, 21, and Earl Williams, 1, Smith, 24, Accokeek, Harding said. They would obtain a detainer against Wayne Parnell, 24, Forest Heights, who was arrested by Prince Georges County police.

Man To Face Bribe Count

BALTIMORE 18 — A senior building inspector was arrested yesterday by two special police officers who said they watched him accept $50 from a North Calvert St. apartment owner.

The inspector, Sydney Stein, 42, was placed under $1,000 bail on a charge of accepting a bribe to influence performance of his duty.

Sgt. Francis Woods and Patrolman Harry Muhl Jr. said they hid in a front room of the basement in the apartment house and, by peering through holes punched in a wall, watched the transfer of the money. They immediately took Stein into custody.

The officers said they also had a tape recording of a conversation between Stein and the apartment owner, Joseph Bowden.

Headquarters said Bowden told them that Stein let it be known that the apartment house would pass inspection if the landlord came through with $50. Bowden said he agreed, then notified the state's attorney's office.

Raughley Porter, head of the bureau of building inspection, said he was shocked when he heard of the arrest. He said he would consult with the bureau's attorney before deciding what he will do.

Anchorage Boasts Big TV Coverage

77 Per Cent Of Homes Have Total Of 27,000 Sets

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK — (INS) — Jack Lemmon played his climactic scene in Playhouse 90 last night so airily it lost virtually all impact and believability, seemed trivial and who-cares.

"Dragnet" was ridiculous last night.

Hans Conradd played another eccentric who beat on a bongo drum while Friday and pal questioned him without protesting such nutty percussion, which surely should be a new triumph for cops keeping a civil service tongue in their heads.

Jackie Cooper used TV's top cliché of all: Looking up, during a filmed sequence, he suddenly seemed to discover the TV audience, exclaiming, with the overdone, "Oh! Hi, there!"

Whatever your notion of the cold cold North — he advised Anchorage, Alaska, has 27,000 TV sets, three channels, with 77 per cent of its homes boasting receivers.

Compared, for instance, to the Las Vegas, Nev., region where 66 per cent of folks boast 25,000 sets.

"Gunsmoke" won the pulse, national TV ratings again. Followed by eight other CBS-TV shows, and finally, NBC's "21." Martin Agronsky interviews Sen. Jack Kennedy on "Look Here" Nov. 24.

Margaret O'Brien sure has grown up: Big passionate married-type love scenes in last night's Playhouse 90 (she was very good, too) and next Monday on Hitchcock's "Suspicion" series she'll play the rape-victim of a criminal psychopath.

Teddy Nader, the rich (the-for taxes), 64G champ, now spends a full day listening to longhair recordings instead of working; he quit his $70 a week St. Louis job as the cash piled up.

He kept $70,000 of the $156,000 he won over 13 months.

NBC is considering a morning "variety" show originating in Miami Beach in case Arlene Francis tires of her new series. Debra Paget's sister Lisa Gaye turns up in a "Thin Man" episode.

Edye Gorme signed for the last Jan. Perry Como Show.

Jane Froman is well enough again to start looking for a TV format.

NBC-TV's "Green Pastures" lost the rating battle to the Madison Square Garden "party" for Mike Todd's movie, but gathered probably the season's most unanimous rave reviews.

It should be repeated, soon... Beulah Bondi will play "Granny" in Hallmark's "On Borrowed Time" Nov. 17, with Ed Wynn and Claude Rains.

Julie Wilson wins the leading lady role in Kraft Theatre's Dec. 4 production of "The Wicked Have Waited," by Peter Lind Hayes and his comedy writer, expert TV dramatist, Bob Crean.

Rosemary Kuhlman, seven times the mother of "Annie" in its many NBC performances, earned the prize role of "Mother Marie Of The Incarnation" when NBC Opera telecasts "Dialogues Of The Carmelites" Dec. 8.

Free-lances originally were roaming knights and men-at-arms who sold their services to various lords.

SWANS ISLAND, Maine—At 81, Mrs. Mamie Torrey has had to stop motorbiking around this Maine coast island.

A spell of rheumatism bothered Mrs. Torrey so much this summer that she sold the motor scooter her grandson bought for her more than a year ago.

But she won't be content to stay off the island roads. Now, she's hoping to save enough money to buy "one of them electric cars."

Kiwanis Hear Leading U.S. Clergyman

Rev. Dr. Louis Hadley Evans Sr., of Los Angeles, one of the nation's leading clergymen addressed the Kiwanis Club yesterday and said leaders in Washington with whom he had discussed future peace emphasized that "Our souls must catch up with our brains."

Dr. Evans, who is minister-at-large and associate general secretary for the Board of National Missions of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., spoke Wednesday night to Presbyterian men in Lonaconing and last night to the Men's Club of First Presbyterian Church here.

During the summer the last several years he has filled the pulpit of National Presbyterian Church in Washington.

The speaker used a number of illustrations in his off-the-cuff remarks to cite certain fundamental principles. When asked if we can have morality without God, he said that when the letters G, O and D are taken from God there is nothing left.

Dr. Evans asserted that the nation's founders gave a great spiritual heritage and the nation has been drawing on it for several centuries without adding anything to it. It is time to start making some spiritual deposits, he stressed.

Most of America's early colleges were founded by churches and as a result of theology and courses dealing with the things of the spirit had an important place in the curriculum. Today there are so many electives in most colleges that theology and philosophy are shunted into the background, he said.

The Presbyterian leader said that each person is an equilateral triangle. His sociology is as broad as his theology is high, he explained.

Dr. H. P. Sturdivant, division lieutenant - governor for Kiwanis International, and three other Kiwanians from Westminster were here to hear Dr. Evans' talk.

Program At VA Center Cancelled

Cresaptown Eagles Home To Be Dedicated Tomorrow

The new home of the Cresaptown Aerie 2883, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will be dedicated tomorrow at 7 p. m.

Herman L. Myers, state secretary and secretary of Cumberland Aerie 243, F.O.E., who spread the charter for the Cresaptown Aerie nine years ago, will give the dedication address.

The call to order will be by John Smith, worthy president of Aerie 2883, who will welcome those in attendance and give the opening remarks.

The introduction of the speaker will be given by Gilbert Keister, a charter member and past worthy president of the Cresaptown Aerie. Short talks will be given by Cecil Straw, first president of the Aerie; Keister, Cecil Warnick, trustee of Aerie 2883; Richard T. Bruchey, state president; and O. Leroy Morris, secretary of the Grand Board of Pension Trustees.

The closing prayer will be by Rev. George S. Widmyer, pastor of the United Brethren Church at Potomac Park.

The grand opening of the new home, a one-story concrete block building located on U. S. Route 220, in the heart of Cresaptown, and music and social activities will constitute the remainder of the evening's program.

On Sunday at noon the state officers will meet for a business session and at 2 p. m. a state district meeting will be held, at which time a large class of new members will be initiated by Hagerstown Aerie 694 degree team. This meeting will be for officers and members only.

The institution date of the Cresaptown Aerie was September 20, 1948 and the charter was

Discuss Plans On School Job

Details of the $900,000 addition to Allegany High School were discussed with Allegany County school officials during a visit here by Dana Johannes, Silver Spring, Md., of the architectural firm of Johannes and Murray.

He conferred with Frank E. Gamble, supervisor of music education; Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education and Theodore P. Poole, supervisor of art education.

These three departments are chiefly interested in the new addition. Bids probably will be sought for the addition in several months, according to Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster.

Officers are Paul Lease, past worthy president; John H. Smith, worthy president; Edward Clark, worthy vice president; Bernard Bredlove, worthy chaplain; Douglas Lewis, worthy treasurer; James Robinson, worthy conductor.

Edward Kane, worthy inside guard; William Lauterbaugh, worthy outside guard; George McKenzie, Cecil Warnick and James McCusker, worthy trustees.

Lions Governor Sets Area Visit

The Ridgeley Lions Club will entertain its new district governor, Willis Kiger of Westover, W. Va., at a Ladies Night dinner Monday at 6:30 p. m. in Nave's Dining Room here.

Edson Turner, president of the Ridgeley Lions Club, will introduce Melvin W. Heiskell, who will be toastmaster for the event.

This will mark the first official visit of Kiger to the Ridgeley club.

Schutz Elected President
Of Frostburg Arion Band

FROSTBURG — Charles Schutz was elected president of the Arion Band of Frostburg at a meeting held earlier this week.

Others taking office were Dale Nolan, vice president and Donald Hanna, secretary-treasurer.

Darrell Zeller was elected director with Irvin Lewis and Harry Crowe as assistants.

Clarence Powers will be manager. Richard Hamill was voted librarian with Roger Seifarth, assistant. Trustees are Melvin Muir, Thomas Lewis, John Turner and George Miller. James Knight and Fred Shockey are on the publicity committee.

A short rehearsal was held. Refreshments were prepared and served by the members.

Plan Program

The Do-Ci-Do Club of Frostburg State Teachers College will hold a hayride tomorrow at 8 p. m.

Students going on the hayride will convene in Old Main Hall. A tractor will pull the wagon to a round and square dance.

The hayride is stag or drag, and will be free except for the fee to be paid upon entrance to the dance. This event is for all college students.

Majorie Lewis, chairman of publicity, is being assisted by Ruth Lockman, Jean Cummings, Mary Angle, Dorothy Downs and Helen Cummings, all freshmen, and Barbara Bagant and Patricia Weicht, sophomores.

The group also plans a Halloween "Sadie Hawkins Style" dance at a later date.

Polio Shots Slated

Mrs. Martha Flickinger, nurse at Frostburg State Teachers College, has announced that the third polio shot will be given Thursday between 2 and 5 p. m. in her office in Old Main.

Parents' consent cards must be presented by all students that have not had the first shot. Students may obtain these cards from the nurse or from their resident hall supervisor. Arrangements are being made for their later shots.

Mrs. Flickinger said no Asian flu shots will be available for students.

Jaycee Program Tonight

PIEDMONT — The Tri-Towns Jaycees will hold a Halloween "Ladies Night" program today at 8 p. m. at the Italian Lodge Hall. Dancing and old-fashioned games will be featured. Prizes will be given for the best costumes in several categories.

Woman Held
In Death Of Small Child

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Harley E. Blackwell, 19, yesterday was charged with the death of her 6-month-old daughter. Police said she had dropped the child on its head.

Previously the father had been charged with homicide and cruelty to children. That charge stemmed from the belief that the child had been fatally injured when her father slapped her.

The child, Alice June, died Aug. 10 of head injuries.

The father, a 27-year-old airman stationed here, was to be tried for second-degree murder. Police, however, said that a subsequent investigation disclosed that four days after the slapping incident, and three days before the baby's death, the mother had dropped the child on its head.

According to Asst. U.S. Atty. Thomas O'Malley, Mrs. Blackwell was watching television in their southeast Washington home on Aug. 7 and reached with one arm to pick up the child. She had raised the baby about three feet, according to O'Malley's report, when the child slipped to the floor and struck its head.

O'Malley said three witnesses to the incident related that Mrs. Blackwell made no effort to pick up the child. Instead, they said, she went on watching television.

Yesterday in municipal court, Mrs. Blackwell was ordered held for a grand jury on a charge of cruelty to children. Her bond was set at $500.

Another assistant U.S. Attorney, Joseph M. Hannon, said the grand jury will go into the entire case and will consider a possible charge of homicide against Mrs. Blackwell.

The father, meanwhile, pleaded guilty to the charge of cruelty to children. Sentencing was deferred pending an investigation.

County Areas Appoint ASC Committees

SOME 190 Allegany County farmers submitted ballots in the annual election for five community Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committees.

Ballots were submitted by 22.3 per cent of the farmers who received them but 18 of the ballots were rejected because the voter failed to sign his name on the outside envelope.

In each case the farmer with the highest number of votes is chairman, second highest vice chairman, third highest regular member, fourth highest first alternate and fifth highest second alternate.

The new committees: Community 1, Little Orleans — Delmer L. Yonker, chairman; George H. Hartley, vice chairman; Marshall T. Mann Sr., regular member; Marvin J. Golden, first alternate; Olney Whitfield, second alternate.

Community 2, Oldtown, North Branch — Floyd Buser, chairman; Edgar M. Matthews, vice chairman; Jonah Hise, regular member; Theodore Stegmayer, first alternate; William C. Crabtree, second alternate.

Community 3, Flintstone — Earl F. Stonestreet, chairman; Justin Heavner, vice chairman; Paul H. Brown, regular member; Gene L. Teter, first alternate; Lester Rader, second alternate.

Community 4, Union Grove, Baltimore Pike, Williams Head, Mt. Savage — Leslie H. Hinkle, chairman; Henry W. Ford, vice chairman; Harry H. Delbrook, regular member; J. A. Millerberger, first alternate; C. J. Helmstetter, second alternate.

Community 5, Potomac Valley, George's Creek, Frostburg — William E. Shumaker, chairman; Ivan Wilson, vice chairman; Thomas G. Barton, regular member; Edward J. Repphan, first alternate; Nat E. Workman, second alternate.

The five community committee chairmen are scheduled to meet in convention at the County ASC office at 37 Washington Street today to elect the county ASC committee. Present members are James H. Weimer, Mt. Savage, chairman; Joseph W. Silber, Oldtown, vice chairman; Brady Dolly, Flintstone, regular member; Charles S. Harvey, Shaft, first alternate, and Harry H. Delbrook, Mt. Savage, second alternate.

Scholarships 'Out Of Hand', Prexy Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — A college president said yesterday that scholarships "have managed to get so far out of hand that a student who pays his own way is one kind of a sucker."

Perry Epler Gresham of Belmont College wrote in the bulletin of the Assn. of American Colleges: "Even those devoid of athletic prowess are in for some healthy offers if they happen to fit scholarship categories. Prospective musicians, scientists, ministers, journalists find the hand of some college officer outstretched with a substantial grant for the taker."

The AAC represents about 700 four-year colleges. In an article headed "College Giveaway," Gresham continued: "Today's youth are consumers at heart. They know how to pick out the college that offers the honor and the reduced fees wrapped up in the most attractive package."

The effect of this is worse on students than on colleges, Gresham said, because "the just balance between value paid and value received is destroyed." "The young person comes to feel that he is doing somebody a favor if he goes to college," he said. "Motivation for hard study, learning, regular member; Gene L. Teter, first alternate; Lester Rader, second alternate."

Community 4, Union Grove, Baltimore Pike, Williams Head, Mt. Savage — Leslie H. Hinkle, chairman; Henry W. Ford, vice chairman; Harry H. Delbrook, regular member; J. A. Millerberger, first alternate; C. J. Helmstetter, second alternate.

Community 5, Potomac Valley, George's Creek, Frostburg — William E. Shumaker, chairman; Ivan Wilson, vice chairman; Thomas G. Barton, regular member; Edward J. Repphan, first alternate; Nat E. Workman, second alternate.

No Business Boom Outlook Seen In 1958

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Top corporation executives apparently believe the long business boom has flattened out onto a high plateau that may extend through most of 1958.

Members of the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Council, interviewed by reporters on the eve of their fall meeting here with Secretary of Commerce Weeks, suggested yesterday there will be a lull in business expansion but no slump.

The 165-member council headed by Eugene Holman, board chairman of Standard Oil Co. (N.J.), will canvass the business outlook with government officials in closed weekend sessions here.

No Boom Year Foreseen "The business leaders group will be addressed, also off the record, by Vice President Nixon tonight."

Speaking privately to reporters, members used these terms to describe the outlook: "Next year won't be a boom year but it will be about as good as 1957."

"Some industries will be up, some down, with the economy as a whole just about unchanged."

"There may be a sharp pickup next spring."

And: "We're seeing a very healthful easing off. We couldn't expect to go on expanding industrial capacity at the rate of the past 2 1/2 years."

On the whole, the BAC membership — representing the management of scores of the country's leading corporations — seemed not to share the Wall Street pessimism which sent the stock market into a tailspin in recent weeks.

Recession Timely "Almost unanimously it was the view of those interviewed that the market recession was timely, if not overdue. A few suggested stocks will stabilize soon somewhere below the level reached in yesterday's spectacular price rally."

Few if any considered the market slump the harbinger of general business recession. The council's professional staff of government and private economists apparently concurs with the businessmen's views. The staff, it was learned, will submit to tomorrow's meeting the study indicating that national output next year will total about 445 billion dollars.

This is almost exactly the record high annual rate of production — or gross national product — which officials expect in the present quarter.

RAVENSWOOD, W. Va. (AP) — Gov. Underwood plans to call a conference on education to help chart a long-range program for improvement of West Virginia's schools.

"In so far as possible, our school program should represent a consensus of the best thinking available in West Virginia today," Underwood said last night.

"Without widespread public support, we cannot hope to move forward. With this thought in mind, I shall take steps immediately to call a governor's conference on education in mid-December."

Underwood disclosed his plan for the conference in an address at Ravenswood's annual "Fifty Dollar Banquet," held to raise money for local schools.

The governor indicated he would seek to have the conference include "lay citizens, government officials, legislators, professional educators and other interested groups representing every segment of our population."

Appointed Lecturer WESTERNPORT — A former resident of here, Harold G. Michaels, has been named a lecturer in hospital administration at Emory University in Georgia. Faculty changes at the university, including appointments and promotions, were announced by Dr. S. Walter Martin, president, following a recent meeting of the executive committee of the board of trustees.

Tidewater Fisheries Group Views Licensing Crab Pots

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Tidewater Fisheries Commission is considering licensing crab pots in some what the same manner as the State issues automobile license tags.

John P. Tawes, TFC chairman, said the tentative plan calls for issuing a buoy marker with a license number for each crab pot to be operated by a licensed crabber.

Tawes said the commission has asked several manufacturing companies to offer suggestions for improving crab pot buoys and buoy markers.

The TFC chairman said the commission is looking for an anti-fouling material which can remain in the water for several years without becoming defaced. It must be highly visible, even at night, and would have to be made available at the retail market at a reasonable price.

Discuss Changes If any samples prove suitable, Tawes said, the commission will consider issuing license markers made of such material and recommending that crabbers purchase buoys of such material. The color of the license markers would be changed annually, and TFC information sheets would tell where the buoys could be purchased.

Current conservation regulations limit crabbers to one $10 license which permits them to fish up to 50 crab pots. About 600 crabbers were licensed this season. The pots are cube-shaped devices, not larger than 24 inches on a side with openings inward for the entrance of crabs.

The law requires that each pot "shall be marked with a buoy easily visible on the surface (and) all such buoys shall be marked clearly with the license number of the licensee."

Tawes said the assigned license numbers painted on buoys by the crabbers often are washed off within a few weeks.

Furthermore, he said, many of the buoys are hardly visible and are a hazard to navigation, but to confiscate all crab pots inadequately marked would affect half the industry.

Poor System With such a poor marking system, Tawes said, it is hard to detect and prove violations by crabbers fishing more pots than the law allows. "We know there are some violations, but it's hard to say how many," he said.

Tax Income Hits Million

Almost $1,000,000 in taxes was collected by the city during an 18-day period, George E. Davis, tax collector, reported today.

Collections total $998,234.03, or about 83 per cent of the tax levy of $1,202,630.

Taxes paid not later than November 23 will be subject to one per cent interest and one-half per cent thereafter.

Meanwhile, City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson reported collections and spending about on schedule for the first quarter ending September 30.

His report shows that $364,854.16 or 18 per cent of the $2,005,860 levy has been received.

The major portion of the income was the $237,500 which was left over when the 1956-57 fiscal year ended on June 30. Such surpluses automatically become a part of the next year's budget.

Collected on the 1957-58 tax levy was $52,095.16, or five per cent of the $1,202,630 property tax levy. This represents one day's collections, made on September 30 after bills were received over the weekend.

During the first three months, the various departments of the city spent $373,973.14, or 22 1/2 per cent of the $1,663,326 operating appropriations. This was 2 1/2 points below par for the quarter.

Most departments appeared to be operating within their budgets.

Mary Haworth's Mail

Editor's Note: Living far from civilization, unhappy wife considers leaving male.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: We have been married three years and I'm stranded away from civilization. The day will come when I will leave my husband or he will leave me. All I have to talk to are two dogs, two cats, a bird and myself.

I have been thinking of going back East to my home, Fred and I had it made when we lived down there. Now we have trouble meeting expenses, living in a huge house, just the two of us.

Customs and habits are so different out here in the West. The men are kings and the women slaves, and I'm not used to that kind of hogwash. To my mother-in-law, dear little Freddie is her pet. Haven't she said so often enough!

If I go home, mother will send me to a beautician's school, so that I can have a decent trade and support myself. Then I could be happy in familiar surroundings and not be so dependent on country boy Fred. He works for the Roads Commission and doesn't want to move back East.

Husband Evades Real Closeness

Fred leaves about quarter-to-six in the mornings and gets home at five-thirty. We have supper, then jump in the car and go to visit his parents, where he leaves me to be entertained by dear old Mom while he runs off with his brother and dad. I never get to see him, not even on weekends, and I've taken about as much as I can.

I guess I was downright crazy to get married and even crazier to move to this God forsaken place. Maybe if I had children I'd be happy—but it looks as if there won't be any. Already I am 23. Sometimes I think I'll go crazy without children; then again I figure maybe it's better this way—it gives Fred less of a hold on me.

I really don't think I can stick it out much longer. What do you think I should do.—B. A.

Visit Back Home May Be Curative

DEAR B. A.: In the circumstances you are being made to feel that you are expendable, it appears. Maybe Fred's dear old Mom (as you call her) is tacitly abetting him in this.

Fred's preoccupation with being a son and brother in his spare time rather than a husband in his full time, puts you in the fifth wheel position of tag-along. He neither provides, nor does he permit, any reasonable arrangements for companionable sharing with you. Indeed he seems to be on the run away from it.

Probably he feels guilty defensive about your homesickness and day-long isolation; also, maybe, about your childless condition. Thus he stays out of range of your melancholy, as much as possible. He doesn't give you a chance to get at him for a heart-to-heart discussion of your grievances, needs and questions of what might be done to improve the situation, and give you a life worth living.

Because this is the pattern of events, largely engineered by Fred, I take it, I believe you won't make matters worse, and you might make them better, by going back home for a good visit with your folks.

Don't Expect Abrupt Remedy

Sometimes a visit back home, of sufficient length to get homesickness out of the system, and refresh one's mind about the limitations of the old familiar environment, is all that's necessary to send a disappointed bride back to her matrimonial assignment, with a new appreciation of its potentials. And a reinforced understanding of why she took the step in the first place.

Let's face it—it is a terrific emotional wrench to be transplanted from native soil to a bleakly different environment, where deep personal interest in your feelings is no part of the picture.

Fred is failing you badly on this score—in running from grief in your heart that he doesn't know how to assuage. He could at least listen and admit his sense of inadequacy, and ask your suggestions as to how he might help—and carry them out. My advice is, go home for a while, and let the future unfold from there. You can't solve the whole problem by any one move. Life is lived, for better or worse, a step (or a day) at a time.—M. H.

Business Briefs...

BUCHANAN, Mich.—(INS)—Clark Equipment Co. sales and earnings showed a slight dip in the first nine months of this year compared with 1956. Sales of $109,040,000 were approximately two per cent below the year-ago level. Earnings through September 30 amounted to $6,400,318, or $2.78 a share, compared with $6,519,268, or $2.85 a share a year earlier.

NEW YORK—(INS)—A survey by the publication, The Bond Buyer, showed today that state and government bond issues to be voted on in the U.S. Nov. 5 will total only $393,943,241, the smallest amount submitted at general elections in 12 years. A year ago a record $2,682,552,457 was proposed.

NEW YORK—(INS)—"Continued economic cross-currents in the period ahead" are forecast by the Chase Manhattan Bank's new quarterly business in review published today. It adds: "The fact that a high plateau of activity has been maintained despite important adjustments in key sectors of the economy is significant. It demonstrates again the increased resiliency of our economy. It is possible that the adjustments that lie ahead can be overcome within a reasonably short time."

Underwriters for the Williams Brothers Co. issue of common stock, dubious about bringing the offering after the recent heavy selling, decided to go ahead with the deal Wednesday, ran into the record-breaking strength and sold out the issue rapidly.

Philadelphia Electric Expansion is expected to continue in line with the increased demand for utility service in the Delaware River Valley area. Per share net is estimated at about $2.60 this year vs. $2.48 for the 12 months ended July 31 and $2.59 on fewer shares in calendar 1956.

Market comment — Arthur W. Bullock of Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis:

"The near-term move is difficult to predict due to the sharp rise Wednesday. Some further strength would be probable, but after so will a rebound, profit-taking will make the recovery more difficult."

Painting Bid Accepted By County Board

Stockmen Seek Information On Damage By Dogs

The bid of George Steele, local painting contractor, was accepted today by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners for the painting of the wood trim on the exterior of the County Office Building at 114 Union Street.

Steele offered to do the work for $260. The only other bid was $360 by Whitman and Cessna, local painting contractors.

A letter was received from James R. Ferguson, animal husbandry specialist at the University of Maryland, requesting information on the county's dog law.

Ferguson said officials of the Maryland Stockman's Association, Maryland Beef Cattle Producers Association, Maryland Swine Producers Association and the Maryland Sheep Breeders Association have asked for information on dog laws in the various counties of the state.

The information would include the amount of damage done by dogs during the year, what claims were paid by the county and the income from the sale of dog licenses. The information will be supplied by Allegany County at a later date when such data is available.

A letter was received from the State Roads Commission notifying the county board that the work on replacing the flooring of two bridges across Georges Creek by the State Foundation Company has been accepted.

The bridges were located at Watercliff Road and at Morrison in the Lonaconing-Barlow area. The repair work was done under terms of an agreement by the county and state in the exchange of certain roads and bridges last year.

Couple Files Damage Suits

Two damage suits totaling $10,000 were filed in Circuit Court today by a Knob Road couple as a result of a two-car collision August 26 on U. S. Route 220 about half a mile north of Cumberland.

The declaration, filed by the law firm of Cobey, Carscaden, Gilchrist and Getty states that the plaintiffs, Donald E. Dicken and his wife, Regina, were traveling south on the highway when a car operated by the defendant, James Edward Lindner, RD 3, Bedford Road, struck their vehicle.

Dicken is asking $5,000 for damages to his car and the cost of medical and hospital care for his wife.

Mrs. Dicken is also asking $5,000 for serious injuries she suffered from thrown against the windshield of the car by the impact of the two cars. She states she will have to undergo plastic surgery to remove scars above her left eye and on her forehead.

Pittsburgh Plate Earnings Improve

Sales of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company and its consolidated subsidiaries for the nine-month period ended September 30, were $471,651,363 as compared with sales of $438,576,634 for the same period of 1956.

David G. Hill, president, reported that net earnings for the first three quarters were $43,612,000, or $4.41 per share, after tax provision of $4,916,373. This represents an increase of about 2 per cent over net earnings of $42,793,551, or $4.32 per share reported for the same period of 1956. Tax provision during the first nine months of 1956 amounted to $47,396,309.

Third quarter sales were $160,564,041, as compared with sales of $146,057,686 reported for the third quarter of 1956.

Net earnings for the third quarter were $14,372,630, or $1.45 per share, after income tax provisions $15,734,077. For the comparable quarter-year of 1956, net earnings were $12,535,463, or $1.27 per share, after income tax provisions of $13,496,416.

Money Sought For Bridge Job

George K. Steiner, president of the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company, wrote the Allegany County Board of Commissioners Tuesday asking that the county pay for repairs made to the Bailey bridge across Willis Creek and Corriganville.

Steiner said workmen at the firm's quarry near Corriganville had used 1,000 feet of three-inch plank and spent about 20 hours in repairing the structure. He said the lumber was worth about $105 and the work had been done without knowledge that the county was responsible for its maintenance.

J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, was instructed to check into the matter.

NEW CRESAPTOWN EAGLES HOME—This is the new home of Cresaptown Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, which will be dedicated in ceremonies tomorrow evening. The concrete block structure, erected by both contractual and volunteer labor, is located just a few lots south of the present Aerie on Route 220. Herman Myers, city state secretary will speak.

Judge Finds Man Guilty Of Manslaughter

Chief Judge George Henderson yesterday afternoon found Emory Lee Shirley, 35, of Paw Paw, guilty of manslaughter in the death of Connie Jean Crabtree, 11, of RD 1, Paw Paw, on August 27, when his truck struck her on the Oldtown Road.

Although he found Shirley guilty, Judge Henderson left the door slightly ajar by indicating that he might reverse himself. He suggested that George R. Hughes Jr., Shirley's attorney, file a motion for a new trial while the judge studies one more case on the subject decided by the Maryland Court of Appeals.

But while some question hung over the fate of Shirley, his companion, Vernon A. Hedrick, 45, of W. Va., was sentenced to 10 days in the County Jail and fined $100 in a separate trial on a charge of making a false report to State Trooper Robert D. Wolford.

When Trooper Wolford arrived at the accident scene about 3:30 p. m. August 27, Hedrick told him that he was driving Shirley's truck and the owner was a passenger. The next day in the office of State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher, Hedrick admitted that Shirley was the driver.

Hedrick's conviction is the first in this county under new Section 17A of Article 27 of the Annotated Code of Maryland. This was Chapter 549 of the Acts of 1957, which passed the General Assembly as House Bill 248. It was approved April 10.

Shirley, who was called to the witness stand in his own defense, admitted that he never had a driver's license although he had been driving 10 to 15 years. He said he had driven most of the 60,000 miles put on the truck.

Elementary Schools Feel Brunt Of Flu-Type Illness

Elementary schools are beginning to feel the brunt of a flu-type illness which has caused absenteeism among both students and teachers.

A large part of the 28 per cent absent from county schools today are elementary students, according to Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel for the Board of Education. There are also 51 teachers absent, Higgins added.

Absenteeism is particularly noticeable at city schools and Higgins cited Pennsylvania Avenue where 266 are absent as one example. Increases were also noted at Virginia Avenue, Geopart, Centre Street, Columbia Street and LaVale.

Others reported up are Flintstone, Bruce and Central Elementary. At Central a gain of three from 125 to 128 was reported. One teacher and one cafeteria worker are also on the ailing list.

Bruce High School at Westernport also increased. There were 123 out today compared to 118 yesterday.

Decreases were reported at Allegany and Fort Hill high schools. Mt. Savage, Oldtown and Valley. At Allegany, 349 were absent compared to 430 yesterday; Fort Hill reported 399 out compared to 439 yesterday. Three Fort Hill students were sent home today and the school has six teachers on the ailing list.

Valley High reported 175 absentees compared to 192 yesterday but five teachers are victims of the illness.

Local parochial schools reported attendance gains but another, St. Patrick's at Mt. Savage, closed its doors at noon yesterday. Sister M. Cordula, principal, said classes will resume Monday.

At St. Patrick's elementary here, there were 82 absent from a total of 384 enrolled, less than the 25 per cent reported yesterday. At St. Peter and Paul, Sister Hilda, principal, said no report was taken but attendance has greatly improved.

Mineral Schools Close In West Virginia, Mineral County's closed-door policy which had been restricted to Keyser High and elementary schools Wednesday, spread yesterday to include schools in Fort Ashby and the elementary schools at Patterson Creek and more than a third at Short Gap.

Ridgeley High School said its absentee list dropped today with only 55 absent. The elementary school listed 77 out compared to 83 yesterday.

Other Mineral County schools closed are at Limestone and Fountain near Keyser.

Meanwhile, Dr. Charlotte Silberman, epidemiologist with the State Health Department in Baltimore, said the disease has not reached epidemic proportions, is "spotty" and follows no set pattern.

Hardest hit areas of the state are Western Maryland and the lower Eastern Shore although figures indicate absenteeism is on the decline, she said.

8,000 In State The Health Department, in a report today said 8,000 cases of the flu-like illness were reported in the state this week, but so far there have been no large community-wide outbreaks.

Locally, the county Health Department reported there have been no cases confirmed officially as Asiatic flu. However, some tests are being conducted to determine if the illness is of the Asiatic variety.

The State Health Department said schools continue to be the focal point of outbreaks with high schools hit first, then elementary schools and finally adults.

The 8,000 cases, reported from 17 counties, were for the week ending today. They sent the state's total flu-like cases since early September to 21,000, the department reported.

As of today the state has had (Continued on Page 14)

Manslaughter Verdict Made In City Case

James M. Chambers Returned To Jail To Await Sentencing

A jury in Circuit Court yesterday afternoon found James M. Chambers, 45-year-old 580 brakeman, guilty of manslaughter in the shotgun slaying of his wife, Mrs. Virginia (Broadstreet) Chambers, 36, last May 2.

The Allegany County Circuit Court jury of nine men and three women deliberated more than two hours before returning the verdict, the fourth of five possible.

The jury got the case at 11:20 a. m. after hearing the final instructions from Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris, who presided at the two-day trial, and arguments from the four attorneys concerned in the case. They included State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher, James S. Getty, his assistant, and the two defense attorneys, Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson.

Shift In Site

At noon the jurors were taken in a body from the Court House for lunch together in a private room of a local restaurant. At 1:15 p. m. the jurors returned to the Court House to resume their deliberations into the fate of Chambers.

It was 2:43 p. m. when Sidney H. Sloer Sr., the court bailiff, walked into the main court room to inform Chief Judge George Henderson, who was hearing evidence in another case, that the jurors were ready with their verdict.

Nine minutes of confusion then followed. Judge Henderson briefly recessed his trial. It was then announced that Judge Harris would receive the jury's verdict in the auxiliary court room. After the jurors and about 20 specialists crowded into the small court room, it was then announced that Judge Harris would receive the verdict in the main court room, whereupon everyone hurriedly walked into the main court room.

After Charles K. McDonald, deputy clerk of court, had called the roll of the 12 jurors to determine that all were present he asked the foreman if they were agreed on their verdict. Benjamin H. Evans of Lonaconing, the foreman then stood at 2:52 p. m. and announced that they found Chambers guilty of manslaughter, but not guilty of the more serious crime of murder.

Returned To Jail

Judge Harris ordered Chambers returned to his cell in the County Jail while he pondered the sentence. He did not indicate when the sentence might be imposed. Under Maryland law, Chambers may receive up to 10 years in the state penitentiary, up to two years in the County Jail, up to $500 fine, or fine and imprisonment.

In delivering his six pages of instructions to the jury, Judge Harris had the following to say about manslaughter:

"Manslaughter, as distinguished from murder in either degree, is the unlawful killing of a person without malice. Manslaughter generally is defined as involuntary killing, not done with the specific intent to take a life, as where the killing was done with a reckless and negligent indifference to the lives and safety of others and without disregard for the other person's life.

"The distinction existing between murder and manslaughter is that, with murder in either degree, malice, as I have legally defined it, is a necessary ingredient, while in manslaughter the existence of malice is lacking."

Other possible verdicts which the jury disregarded included (1) guilty of murder in the first degree, (2) guilty of murder in the first degree without capital punishment, (3) guilty of second degree murder and (4) not guilty.

Escapee Makes Mistake By Returning Here

A former resident who "wandered" away from the LaVale State Police barracks while serving time made the mistake of returning here and getting arrested last night.

He is Donald Lee Paugh, who was found guilty of two motor vehicle violations this morning by Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick and sentenced to a total of 45 days in jail.

Paugh was arrested late last night by City Police Officer Gordon Hite while driving up North Centre Street. He was sentenced to 60 days in default of $150 fine on one charge, and given another 25 days in default of $25 fine on the other.

County authorities were expected to confer today on the possibility of prepaying jail breaking charges against Paugh.

Sheriff Aide Seeking Data On Statement

Plans To Appear When Commissioner Wilkinson Attends

Deputy Sheriff Haberlein appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners today in an attempt to obtain clarification of a statement by Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson last week during a discussion on purchase of two pairs of pants with the uniforms to be obtained for sheriff's deputies.

Haberlein exhibited a clipping from the Evening Times in which it was stated that Wilkinson commented that the deputies received "free food and gas for their cars."

Haberlein said he wanted to make it clear that the county does not furnish gasoline for the private cars of deputies but only for county-owned vehicles. He also said that he has had many people question him concerning the "free gasoline" statement.

Commissioner Wilkinson was not at today's meeting as he is on vacation. Haberlein said he would appear again before the board when Wilkinson was present to seek clarification of the statement.

A long discussion was held by the board with Richard Mellett concerning a drainage problem in the Upper Homewood Addition section off the Mt. Savage Road. Mellett said that a ditch which he had dug some months ago should again be used to eliminate the problem. J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, said he was of the same opinion. No definite action was decided upon.

A letter was received from P. Allan Weatherholt, president of the Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association, thanking the board for a donation of $600 for the association's program. He cited the medical care given to 130 children with rheumatic heart illness.

Bruce To Meet With Democrats

A prominent Baltimore Democrat who has indicated his intention to seek his party's nomination for the U. S. Senate will be in Cumberland tonight to confer with Allegany County leaders.

He is James Bruce, former ambassador to Argentina and former administrator of arms and weapons under the Marshall Plan. While serving as ambassador, Bruce originated the government's "get tough" policy with Peron, dictator who ruled that country.

During his visit, Bruce will meet with the Allegany County State Central Committee and other Democratic leaders.

Litzburg Rotary Fellowship Candidate

Thomas V. Litzburg Jr., has been selected as the Cumberland Rotary Club's applicant for a Rotary Fellowship for 1958-59 in District 735.

He was graduated cum laude from Washington and Lee University last June and is studying at Yale Divinity School in preparation for the Episcopal ministry under a full scholarship grant from the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis. He is a Phi Beta Kappa, Omicron Delta Kappa and is listed in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." Should he be awarded the fellowship, he hopes to spend a year at St. Andrews College in England.

Union To Get Plant Job At Hagerstown

Pickets Halted Work At Plant Of Fairchild Firm

A construction job falling within the jurisdictional boundaries of Cumberland Local 568, Ironworkers Union, will be let out to a union sub-contractor, G. E. Clark, business agent of the union, announced today.

Monday, 39 pickets from this local set up a line at the site of a building that is being erected at the Hagerstown plant of the Fairchild Aircraft and Engine Company.

Clark said the job was shut down with all trades honoring the picket line. The union was protesting the use of non-union labor not receiving the predetermined wage rate for this area, Clark said.

Paid Lower Scale The original contractor, the Holston Steel Structures Inc., of Bristol, Tenn., brought its own workers to Hagerstown and paid a top scale of $1.65 an hour, the business agent reported.

The scale for ironworkers in this section who are members of the AFL-CIO is $3.50 an hour. The president of the company requested Clark on Wednesday to submit a list of union contractors who would be asked to furnish bids on a sub-contract basis.

Clark said he furnished the names of five companies, and added Holston had received two other firm names.

Local Men Get Jobs Fairchild, in order to expedite erection of a building to house the new building and adjacent section for the F-27 turbojet airplane, bought the partially prefabricated and pre-engineered building as a package deal.

The structure will have 75,000 square feet of floor space.

Clark said this building represents the first phase in a $19,000,000 construction program at the Hagerstown plant.

About 20 ironworkers from the Cumberland local will be used on the job when it is let to a subcontractor.

County Seeks Bridge Okay

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has sent a letter to Robert O. Bonnell, chairman of the State Roads Commission, asking that approval be given for the B&O Railroad grade crossing elimination project in the Mexico Farms area and also to approve a federal aid secondary road program in the relocation of part of the road by the county.

Under the program the B&O would erect an overhead bridge in order to eliminate a crossing over 12 tracks in the yard expansion program. The grade crossing now has three tracks. The entire expense of the bridge project will be borne by the railroad.

The relocation of the Mexico Farms Road to lie in with the bridge will be financed by the county through the federal aid program. The SRC is asked to have the preliminary plans and cost estimates prepared so that the county can proceed with the financing program.

Pair Takes Part In Glidden Tour

Two local men participated in the 1957 Glidden Tour revival held from Roanoke, Va., to Hershey, Pa., which ended Sunday.

They were David T. Davis, 632 Washington Street, and W. Mac Wilson, operator of the Wilson Welding Supply Company, this city.

The pair took the trip from Roanoke to Charlottesville, stopping at the Jamestown Festival when Queen Elizabeth II was a guest, and on to Washington and Hershey, in Davis' 1925 Duesenberg phaeton.

Davis said the journey, which covered a total of 1,290 miles, was completed without any mechanical trouble.

LaVale Student Takes Part In Dedication

Miss Joan Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Bennett, LaVale, participated in the dedication ceremonies last weekend at Hood College in Frederick.

Miss Bennett, a senior chemistry major, introduced Dr. Alan T. Waterman, director of the Medical Science Foundation, who spoke. She is a graduate of Allegany High School.

Northeast School Postpones Dance

The square dance scheduled at Northeast School tonight by the Parent-Teacher Association has been postponed to Friday, November 8, according to Mrs. R. L. McClelland, chairman of the ways and means committee.

The action was taken because of the epidemic of flu-type illness in families of children attending the school.

PRESENTED GAVELS—The Allegany County Lay Health Council observed the tenth anniversary of its founding at a dinner last night at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. High-light of the program was the presentation of gavels to past presidents of the organizations. Mrs. Patrick Allender, left, program chairman, is shown presenting gavels to Mrs. Arthur Evans, center, and Miss Mary Margaret Smith.

New Revenue Said Needed For Maryland

BALTIMORE, Md. — While Maryland fiscal officials have been generally pessimistic about the State living within its current revenues next fiscal year, one of them has ventured specific figures.

The official, who asked that his name not be used, said the current outlook indicates the Legislature will have to find new revenue sources for 15 million dollars "on the optimistic side" and 20 million "or more to be pessimistic."

The alternative, he said, is to drastically curtail State services. Fiscal officials are reluctant to discuss the matter until Gov. McKeldin has been fully briefed on budget and revenue prospects for fiscal 1958-'59.

Two things contribute to the general feeling of pessimism, however. State revenues, particularly sales tax receipts, are running behind last year. State officials are quick to point out this situation could change rapidly.

On the other hand, budget proposals already received from State departments ask $13,700,000 in new revenues from general funds. And the big school-aid program hasn't been submitted yet.

"I may be dead wrong, and I hope so," the official said. "But at this point I don't see how we can avoid finding a lot more money than is likely to be available from present sources."

Seventeen of the 33 presidents of the United States visited Newport, R. I., while holding office.

L. E. Van Sant Found Dead At Home Here

Lorenzo Elwood "Red" Van Sant, 77, one of the best known persons in local athletic circles, was found dead yesterday afternoon at his home, 215 Greene Street.

Mr. Van Sant was found by his daughter, Mrs. Jack L. Evans, RD 2, 224 Avirell Avenue, after neighbors reported that the newspaperman had died yesterday evening.

Dr. H. V. Deming said Mr. Van Sant died about 3 p.m. Wednesday of a heart attack. His daughter had visited him earlier that afternoon.

A lifelong resident of this city, Mr. Van Sant was a son of the late Theodore and Virginia (Lee) Van Sant. His wife, Elton (Tootie) Van Sant, preceded him in death.

Very active in tennis, he was the promoter of the city and county tennis tournaments for many years and was a player until his death.

He also spent many years in the advertising business in Cumberland and managed a band which toured the country.

"Red" played in pioneer basketball circles here over 40 years ago with the team sponsored by the local YMCA, where he also was physical director.

In addition to setting up and instructing tennis each summer at the local playgrounds, he was instrumental in promoting the badminton programs at Fort Hill High School which were sponsored by the city.

Also surviving besides his daughter, are one other daughter, Mrs. John Wilson, city; two sons, John K. Van Sant, Falls Church, Va., and Thomas F. Van Sant, Baltimore; a brother, Homer Van Sant, city; two nephews, Henry Martin, Falls Church, and James Martin, city; eight grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

Life's race well run,

Now comes rest.

The above words, President Garfield's epitaph, can also be used to pay a fitting tribute to L. E. (Red) Van Sant, Cumberland's "Grand Old Man of Tennis."

It's going to be mighty strange carrying on without him. We never thought in terms of "Red" bringing 77 years of young, he was such a remarkable man for his age that we more or less pictured him as going on forever.

Without him, tennis might have been a foregone conclusion in Cumberland today. Interest declined steadily but the "old Red" was determined that it was not going to die. And thanks to his untiring efforts, it didn't.

This past summer 250 Cumberland teen-agers took part in the City Recreation Department's tennis program. A better way of putting it would be "Red Van Sant's skrimishes featuring the second program," as less than five years ago only a handful of youngsters could be seen swinging rackets in the city.

Mr. Van Sant didn't take up the game until he was 40 years old. It was only after the late Phil Roman, a tennis devotee, persuaded him to play that "Red" realized the true value of the net sport.

Even with the late start, "Red" developed into quite a proficient player, but he knew that the best way to become truly outstanding was by getting into the swing early. He advocated a youth plan and took a fatherly interest in Lawrence (Larry) Middlekamp who developed into one of Cumberland's all-time great players.

Mr. Van Sant was responsible for staging City and County tennis tournaments since 1928 and when Cumberland launched upon a vast recreation schedule less than ten years ago with a full-time director, "Red" was a disappointed man. The program made no provision for tennis.

"What's wrong with those fellows at City Hall?" That's a question he would ask. It seemed, every time he came into the Times editorial office, "Tennis is a most wholesome game. It's a great body-builder and I know the kids will get a lot of enjoyment out of playing it," he declared.

The tennis-minded septagenarian took his complaints to the rec directors and "city fathers" but without immediate success. However, he wouldn't take "no" for an answer and when the city built two courts in North End and added five more by painting lines and putting up nets in the black-topped play area back of Fort Hill High School, "Red's" battle was won.

Bob Pence, then the rec director, engaged Mr. Van Sant to conduct tennis classes and he responded with a tremendous job. This was evidenced by increased participation every year.

A good instructor because he knew the game so well, his biggest attribute, Pence believes, was patience and understanding. In such a program, one must deal with all kinds of youngsters. A few on the "smart-ale" side would have tested the patience of men much younger, but "Red" ignored them and concentrated on those who wanted to learn.

He also saw to it that his programs received adequate publicity. In addition to conducting the tournaments, he wrote stories for the papers. We'll always remember him coming up the stairs with typewritten stories and requesting: "Give this a good play, the kids deserve it."

Mr. Van Sant was also a basketball pioneer, playing the game shortly after its invention by the late James A. Naismith. "Red" was physical director at the local YMCA when it was located on Baltimore Street, where the Peskin building now stands.

He and his "Y" teammates met a team of touring national-known Columbia University athletes in 1902. Teaming with "Red" were Gus Cromwell, Herman Hast, Ellsworth Rosenberger, Gus Blant, Clem Deane, Jim Morris and Frank Carpenter.

Mr. Van Sant played football at the old Allegany County Academy and was instrumental in promoting badminton matches at Fort Hill during the winter months.

Active in tennis doubles right up to the end, the achievements of the remarkable "Redhead" will long linger in the memories of all who knew him. One local tennis girl, who had learned the game under his watchful eye, said last night upon (Continued on Page 17)

Dodgers Sign Alston, Reese To '58 Pacts

LOS ANGELES (A)—This was Walt Alston's initiation into managing a big league baseball team: wild west style: a lump on his balding head and a new contract with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"A fine introduction to Los Angeles," said the veteran manager, who arrived at a downtown press gathering rubbing a goose egg bump on the back of his head. He got the bump when his taxi cab en route from the airport was smacked from behind by a large limousine.

"Probably driven by a San Francisco Giant fan," quipped a reporter, reminding the gathering that the traditional rivalry between the two former New York feuders will undoubtedly retain its intensity now that the teams are on the West Coast.

Dodger vice president Emil (Buzzy) Bavasi promptly announced that Alston and team captain Pee Wee Reese have signed one-year contracts.

How much? asked the reporters. More than last year? "No one with the Dodgers gets a raise when we lose the pennant," laughed Bavasi, who would say exactly.

Alston drew $38,000 for 1957. Reese, the spark plug shortstop, although ailing most of the season—reportedly received $39,000. "We are particularly happy to sign Alston," Bavasi said. "He is the only manager to ever give Brooklyn the world's championship."

Alston piloted the Dodgers to a World Series victory over the New York Yankees in 1955. Bavasi told the reporters that the Dodger office, which set up shop here yesterday, already has been swamped with ticket requests.

"We found enough money in the mail today for tickets to enable us to sign Alston and Reese," Bavasi said. "The ticket demand tops anything we ever experienced in Brooklyn."

For the quiet spoken Alston, who will be 45 in December, next season will be his fifth at the Dodger helm. He signed after the 1953 season as successor to Charlie Dressen.

It was the 16th Dodger contract for Reese, who is expected to arrive later in the week.

Tranquilizers May Be Next For Breedlove

The following story about Cumberland's "Hot Rod" Breedlove was written by Dave Brady, who covers the University of Maryland football for The Washington Post and Times Herald.

By DAVE BRADY
COLLEGE PARK — Maryland guard Rod Breedlove's name is so inconsistent with his fiery temperament that trainer Duke Wyre may resort to tranquilizer pills.

The treatment first was suggested for end Ben Scotti of whom Tommy Mont says there is no more aggressive player in America.

Even for the sweat suit workout in the field house yesterday, Breedlove tore in and out of hurdles like an Oklahoma Sooner with his shittail aflutter.

Tennessee may get the idea in Saturday's game at College Park that Breedlove has a twin. The Vols may knock him down, but he will pop up again and again for a shot at the ball carrier.

Hard To Miss Him
It's hard to miss his No. 62. He's head and shoulders above most players at 6'2 and 215 pounds. He was in steady evidence last Saturday as he worked over North Carolina quarterback Dave Reed and halfback Don Coker.

That game earned him recognition as Atlantic Coast Conference "sophomore of the week." He came within a hair of achieving a distinction not even Maryland's great linemen of the past attained as sophomores — the Nation's "lineman of the week" honor.

Although he's only 19, Mont assigned him a big responsibility before "The Queen's Game." Coplains Gene Alderton and Jack Healy were being present to Her Majesty.

Fires Up Squad
When the ceremony dragged, Mont said to Breedlove, "I'm all talked out. Tell the boys some jokes to loosen them up."

Breedlove was in no such mood. Instead he took charge of firing up the squad for its shocking upset victory.

Breedlove has a blank check on defense. He can roam to his heart's delight.

That's why Mont switched him from end to guard—to give him the latitude that goes with line-backing.

He was a standout pass receiver as a freshman, catching five touchdown passes. He adapted himself well because he is bright, a member of the National Honor Society, and a government and politics major in the Arts and Sciences course.

He came to Maryland from Allegany High in Cumberland, Mont's alma mater.

Dressen Given Offer By LA

WASHINGTON (A)—Washington Senators President Calvin Griffith said last night that Charlie Dressen has asked for permission to discuss an offer from the Los Angeles Dodgers baseball team.

It was understood that Dressen, who once managed the Dodgers in Brooklyn, has been offered a job as special assistant to Walt Alston, who was rehired yesterday to manage the Dodgers for another year.

Dressen has been an assistant in Griffith since last May when Connie Lavagetto replaced Dressen as manager of the Senators. Dressen's current duties involve scouting for player talent.

Griffith confirmed that E. J. (Buz) Bavasi, Dodgers vice president, also had telephoned from the West Coast asking permission to talk to Dressen about the job.

Dressen has two years to go on a three year contract with the Senators. But Griffith said he would not stand in Dressen's way. Dressen makes his home in West Los Angeles and was manager of the Dodgers before coming to Washington for the 1955 season.

The Dodgers yesterday announced the signing of 1958 contracts with Alston and Team Captain Pee Wee Reese. Each received in the neighborhood of $35,000. Alston's contract is for one year.

Grayson Says Sugar Plans Ring Return

By JIMMY BRESLIN
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Ray Robinson will get into the ring and take on Carmen Basilio again in February — despite anything he speaks of at the present — for a couple of reasons.

One stems from the day he announced to a couple of his visitors in his Harlem office, "I'll be right back."

So Ernie Braca and Vic Marsilio took a seat. Braca smoked a cigar. He smoked another one. Marsilio talked. Then he talked some more.

"About three and a half hours later," Braca says, "Vic tells me he is getting the idea Robinson wouldn't be back. I agreed, so we left."

This was a couple of days after Robinson had lost to Gene Fullmer and Braca and Marsilio had any of his own passes yet.

Marsilio's offense has been end of the purse. It wasn't paid, given a lift by rehabilitation of Braca says, nor were his shares several injured players. In the end from the Fullmer return and fullback Phil Perlo are making a big difference while Don Basilio war.

"My lawyer," Braca says, "figures we have $200,000 coming, which is what we go to court for in the next couple of weeks."

He isn't alone. The government keeps hitting Robinson for tax money. Joe Glazer, who served as Robinson's agent and, with Braca, piece-holding fight manager, has called his attorney, too.

Robinson told Glazer, "I won't pay you," and Joe, who holds a $120,000 mortgage on Ray's building, among other things, is mad.

"When I got him on the phone a few days after we were waiting for him," Braca says, "he told me he was broke. He keeps saying that to everybody. I can't believe it. The man never spent eight dollars in his life, especially recently, and he has been making a fortune."

Money Buried
"My own opinion is that he has money buried in a tin can somewhere. But no matter what he's got the bills are piling up so big now he has to fight Basilio in February. There's no other way."

There is another reason, too. As a man without a title, Robinson is in trouble. For a day to there 12 times.

Mont Sees Hard-Hitting Battle With Tennessee

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — (AP) — Maryland and Tennessee will face each other tomorrow just as their football offenses are showing signs of life.

Neither was anything to get excited about in their early season games. Johns Hopkins will learn quick-ly if it has a chance to retain its place in the Mason-Dixon Conference. The Baltimoreans will be at Hampden-Sydney, winner of four straight and loser last season by only a point to Johns Hopkins.

Tennessee has scored eight touchdowns, half of them against Chattanooga, in winning three of its four games. But Coach Bowden Wyntall saw some encouragement when two passes scored touchdowns when two passes scored touchdowns to beat Alabama.

Gordon, Bronson Shline Tailback Bobby Gordon and full-back Tommy Bronson, both senior lettermen, are the mainstays in Tennessee's single wing attack. It will be bolstered by the return of second string fullback Carl Smith after being out with an ankle injury.

Gordon is a one-man gang. He leads Tennessee in rushing, passing, punt and kickoff returns, punting, scoring and pass interceptions. He hasn't caught any of his own passes yet.

Maryland's offense has been end of the purse. It wasn't paid, given a lift by rehabilitation of Braca says, nor were his shares several injured players. In the end from the Fullmer return and fullback Phil Perlo are making a big difference while Don Basilio war.

Wildcat Footballers Build With Hot Dogs

MANHATTAN, Kans. — (NEA) — Income from concessions is channeled into athletic scholarships at Kansas State.

So, the Wildcat football players build with hot dogs and get pep with pop.

The athletic department this year took over the operation of concessions at football and basketball games. Ray Wuntbier, baseball coach and acting head of the department of men's physical education, is the concessions manager. The operation previously had been lot to professional concerns.

Sees Hard-Hitting Game
Coach Tommy Mont anticipates a fast, hard hitting game. "We've been in better condition than any team we've played," Mont says. "We'll be equal with Tennessee."

While Maryland is expected to have its hands full with Tennessee, Ray's football squad heads for a romp at Penn. The middles will be after their fifth victory in six games against a Quaker eleven which hasn't won any.

West Virginia Seeks Perfect League Mark

By The Associated Press
West Virginia's Mountaineers will go after their fifth successive undefeated season in Southern Conference football play tomorrow afternoon with only one-fourth of the No. 1 backfield that began the season still in the starting lineup against William & Mary.

All Southern Conference full-back Larry Krukko will be the lone starter who also was on the field when the Mountaineers opened their loop season against Virginia Tech.

Dick Longfellow, second-string quarterback who has been the star performer in the Mountaineers' last two victories — over Boston University 46-6 and George Washington 34-14 — will take over the signal-calling chores from Mickey Trimarki, a second team all-conference choice last year.

The starting halfbacks will be a couple of sophomores who have come along fast — Ray Peterson and Dave Rider.

While West Virginia has won three and tied one of its five starts, William & Mary shows only one victory in five encounters.

A victory tomorrow would be the Mountaineers' 24th straight in conference competition but would not insure another league championship because Virginia Military and The Citadel (both 3-0) and Furman (1-0) have yet to meet defeat in the conference.

At least one record is bound to go tomorrow night, however, when The Citadel entertains Furman. VMI has a date with George Washington (1-3) at Roanoke, Va., to round out the family fuses.

Richmond is at Rutgers, Virginia Tech at Florida State and Washington & Lee entertains Wittenberg in non-conference action. Davidson will be idle because of a flu epidemic.

At least one record is bound to go tomorrow night, however, when The Citadel entertains Furman. VMI has a date with George Washington (1-3) at Roanoke, Va., to round out the family fuses.

Racing Group Will Hold Up 'Shift' Report

BALTIMORE (AP) — A special committee of the Legislative Council has postponed making a report on the plan to close Pimlico Race Track and move its dates to Laurel until after the committee visits Laurel.

Last night at the conclusion of a hearing on the plan which amounts to a merger of the two tracks, the committee accepted an invitation to visit Laurel on Nov. 4.

Walsh Opposes Shift

Vigorous opposition to the shifting of Pimlico dates to Laurel was voiced at the meeting by William C. Walsh, of Cumberland, counsel for Bowie.

He said the proposal would sharply limit the powers of the State Racing Commission, leaving it no alternative but to continue granting racing dates to the operators of Pimlico even after the move is accomplished.

It would enable Pimlico to reap a risk-free profit in the millions while threatening the existence of Bowie, Walsh said.

"If Pimlico wants to go ahead and abandon its track, which produces more revenue than any mile track in Maryland, let them go ahead," he said, "but the racing days should be divided between the two remaining tracks."

Del. A. Gordon Boone (D-Balto County), chairman of the special committee, told Walsh the language of enabling legislation could be adjusted to remove any threat to racing commission authority.

Centralization Worked

Joseph M. Wyatt, spokesman for Laurel and Pimlico, told the committee centralization of racing dates has worked well from the standpoint of patronage—and thus tax revenue—in several states and Canada.

The commission again endorsed the plan. Chairman D. Eldred Rinehart said he and Commissioner Albert A. Shugar recognized limitations placed on Pimlico by its inability to expand in the current Baltimore location.

But Rinehart said Commissioner E. Taylor Channing had reservations about the proposal "with regard to how it might affect Bowie."

The racing commission backed a bill introduced in the General Assembly earlier this year which would have paved the way for shifting Pimlico's racing dates to Laurel. The bill languished in the Senate Finance Committee and finally was referred to the Legislative Council for further study.

Pair of Amazing Japs Nabs Two-Stroke Lead In Tokyo

TOKYO (AP) — Sam Snead's blazing bulls-eye putter became just another slab of cold steel today and a pair of amazing Japanese forged into a two-stroke lead over the United States in the Canada Cup International Golf Tournament.

The bullish slammer from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., skyrocketed to a two-over-par 74 after yesterday's record 67 and not even a sub-par 71 by partner Jimmy Demaret could salvage the day against the inspired Sons of Nippon.

Torakichi Nakamura, a 5-foot-4 shot-making machine from Tokyo, fashioned his second straight 68 over the Kasumigaseki Country Club course and his slender companion, Koichi Ono, added a 70 to give Japan the Canada Cup lead with an aggregate score of 279.

In second place at 281 came the favored United States team, strongly pushed by the rallying South African duo of Gary Player and Harold Henning, who had 283 after second rounds of 69 and 70, respectively.

Par for the 6,895 yard course, which played long after an early morning rain, is 36-36-72.

While a partisan, highly elated crowd of 6,000 cheered his every shot, Nakamura, a coldly efficient little man who reminds golfers of America's Gene Sarazen, also took the lead for the individual international trophy with a score of 136.

He had a four-stroke edge over Demaret and two others, tied at 140.

Snead blamed his day's miseries on a recalcitrant putter, saying "I missed six putts of eight feet and under. I don't know what happened. I just wasn't stroking them the way I was yesterday."

The West Virginian's troubles began on the very first hole when he drove into the rough and took a bogey five, his first of the tournament. However, he rallied with a birdie on the third, an eagle three on the fifth where he chipped in from 60 feet off the green, before the roof fell in on him on the incoming nine.

On the 10th hole he three putted while Nakamura, playing in the same foursome, blasted out of a sand trap and holed for a birdie. This, in itself was enough to shake Snead's nerves.

The erratic American missed short putts on the 13th and 15th and took a double bogey six on the 16th where he hit into a trap and left the ball there — something oldtimers had not seen Snead do in years.

Chuck Zimmerman, Syracuse University quarterback, plays golf in the 70's.

Phillies Ready For TV Setup

NEW YORK (AP) — Everything appears set for the televising of 78 games by the Philadelphia Phillies into the metropolitan New York area next season.

The deal which would beam the National League games here now that the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants are no more, reportedly was completed yesterday between Bob Carpenter, Phillies' president, and station WOR-TV. No official announcement has been made, however, pending a formal notification of the New York Yankees, the only club left in the big town, which makes this American League territory.

The Yankees, who telecast their home games and some of their road games over another channel, apparently cannot bar the Phillies games.

Commissioner Ford Frick said yesterday "We're not permitted to make any kind of a restrictive rule on television between leagues."

Substitutes Fight Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — In the story-books, Gale Kerwin, the underdog moving up to the starring role, would be a cinch to beat Johnny Russo, the fighter with the reputation.

Since this pairing is not in a novel and the fight is in Madison Square Garden tonight, cynical bookmakers have made Russo, ninth-ranking contender, a 13-5 favorite to win the radio-television (NBC, 9 p.m., EST) 10-rounder.

Undaunted by the odds and jubilant over getting his first Garden main event, Kerwin was confident he would make good.

"I intend to make the most of my opportunity," the 22-year-old Canadian native said, "This is something I've been dreaming about for a long time."

The rangy, 5-8, 140-pounder from Valley Stream, N.Y., via Ottawa, got the knock on the door when the Asian flu epidemic bowled over two fighters, Paolo Rossi of Italy and New York and Ernie "Sonny Boy" Williams of Washington, D.C.

Rossi was stricken early in the week. The day after Williams was tapped for the starring role, the Washington youngster came down with the flu.

Al Lopez, Idle Year Ago, Named 'Manager of Year'

NEW YORK (AP) — Al Lopez, of the Chicago White Sox, who was out of a job at this time a year ago, today was named American League Manager of the Year for 1957.

Lopez' performance overshadowed those of Casey Stengel of the pennant-winning New York Yankees and Paul Richards of Baltimore in the opinion of the Baseball Writers' Assn. of America who participated in the Associated Press annual poll.

Eighty-three of the 180 voters felt that Lopez' direction of the second-place White Sox was the most outstanding. Richards was named on 25 Frank (Pinky) Higgins of the third-place Boston Red Sox received two votes.

The showing of the White Sox was one of the big surprises of the American League. With admitted weaknesses at several positions and little reserve strength, Lopez kept his charges on the heels of the Yankees until their elimination from the pennant fight in the final week of the campaign.

Lopez, 49-year-old native of Tampa, Fla., was hired to manage the White Sox last Oct. 29 following his release by the Cleveland Indians, who he had led for six years. With the Indians, Al won one pennant, in 1954, and finished second on five occasions.

Richards brought his Orioles home in fifth place, a couple of notches higher than was figured in preseason estimates.

H. E. FAIN AND FIDDLE: His dad thought it was silly.

By RALPH MONCRIEF
NEA Staff Correspondent
DALLAS, Tex. — (NEA) — In case you have 80 expendable hours—H. E. "Buster" Fain has the answer to how you may spend them profitably.

Hand-make a violin.

The 80 hours is how long it takes Fain to convert beautiful fully-grained curly or flamed maple and hick wood into a varnished and polished stringed instrument that produces the sweetest music this side of heaven.

The profit is the four to six hundred dollars average he receives for his efforts.

"If there is a harried business man in the nation who is seeking some form of relaxation, I highly recommend 'fiddle making' for him," the handsome Fain declares, his brown eyes sparkling.

Fain got into violin making sort of by accident. At 14 his major ambition was to become a violin player. He asked his dad to buy him one so he could learn to play, but his father, a Stetson hat, cowboy-boot-wearing oil field contractor and driller figured violin playing was too sissy for any son of his, so he refused.

Since his dad wouldn't help him, Fain decided to make his own. He gleaned from several sources a piece of cypress for the top, a section of walnut for the back, and an ash board from a grocery box for the sides. After many hours of trial and error his first fiddle was completed, and it played, much to his surprise.

After his moderate success with his first instrument, Fain decided he would rather make violins than play them so he began to haunt the violin shop of master craftsman S. R. Glidewell, in his hometown of Wichita Falls, Tex.

"I would sweep, dust, and do all kinds of chores for Mr. Glidewell just for the privilege of sitting and watching him perform the delicate task of creating one of his beautiful instruments," Fain recalls. "And it was all the formal training I ever had."

Fain migrated from Wichita Falls to Oklahoma City where he operated his own violin shop from 1938 until 1942. He organized and conducted his own band and played the trombone in the Oklahoma City Symphony conducted by Victor Alessandri until he was drafted.

Today, in the tool and equipment filled garage of his home on a quiet suburban street in Dallas, Fain spends from two to four hours daily when in town carving out his violins. It is no longer a business for him; it is the hobby that eases the pressure of his job as an electrical manufacturer representative traveling four southwestern states.

LONDON — (INS)—The traditional elegance of Chinese women has vanished in present-day Communist China.

So reports Mrs. Lisbet Holmes, fashion designer and buyer for a leading London department store, who has just returned from a lone 20,000-mile spending spree behind the Chinese Bamboo Curtain.

Mrs. Holmes, an attractive willowy brunette, purchased silks, brocades, jewelry and antiques during her five-month visit. She is believed to be the first woman buyer to enter Communist China.

"I lived in China before the war and loved to watch the Chinese ladies in their colorful robes of silks and brocades. They were so poised and serene.

"Now, it all seems rather sad. The Chinese women of today have lost their traditional elegance. Wherever I went they seemed to be dressed in the same uniform, blue-black tunics. Most of them never wear make-up, not even lipstick.

"There have been tremendous changes in the country and the women work terribly hard. Perhaps that is why their appearance has suffered."

Career Girl Mixes Work And Marriage

SAN FRANCISCO — When a career girl's marriage takes her away from the area where her job opportunities exist, what can she do?

Margit Anker Jensen, Danish-born china designer, solved the problem. She went into business for herself.

From designing patterns to adorn delicate cups and dinner plates, she established a line of custom-made tile coffee table tops. Now she has a business that can be sandwiched between household demands and still offers an outlet for her artistic abilities.

Margit, a tall brunette with saucy blue eyes, did prize-winning china decorating for a top Copenhagen factory. Later she was on the design staff of two of the big U. S. manufacturers of fine china.

But an old beau from Denmark, Bjørn Anker Jensen, now a San Francisco decorator, persuaded her to give up her job for marriage.

She found San Francisco offered everything but a china factory. After settling in a sunny apartment with a Golden Gate view, energetic Margit looked for something to do.

Bevan Will Speak At Johns Hopkins

BALTIMORE (AP) — Aneurin Bevan, British Labor Party candidate for foreign secretary, will speak at Johns Hopkins University next Tuesday.

Bevan leaves London on Saturday for a U. S. tour during which he also will visit New York, Washington, Boston and Los Angeles. He will deliver the annual Williams lecture at Johns Hopkins.

Pessimism Wins On Trump Break

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Pessimistic Pete looked mournfully at the dummy and the opening lead.

"It would be too much to expect the ace of spades to be right," he mumbled as he played the king.

East took his ace and the suit was continued. Pete ruffed the third lead and soliloquized again.

"I guess that all four trumps will show up somewhere. I haven't had a decent trump break since 1947. This time it doesn't matter too much. I have only bid four hearts and I have a safety play to guard against any trump combination."

Pete was right. He led his four of trumps and when West played the three spot Pete put on dummy's eight. This play held West to one trump trick and Pete had brought home his contract.

Actually Pete's play had been a sure thing. With a two-two trump break it would have cost him a trick that he could well afford to lose and with a three-one break he would come out even since he would have to lose a trump trick anyway.

If East had happened to hold all four trumps West would have shown out. Pete would go up with dummy's king and lead through East to hold him to one trump trick.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Explorer Scout Plan Put On Optional Basis

A major revision in the Explorer Scout program has been announced by the national executive committee, according to Dr. Thomas Bess, Keyser, president of Potomac Council.

Dr. Bess said the revision is concerned with Boy Scouts when they become 14 years old. Herebefore, Dr. Bess said, when a youth became 14 he automatically became an Explorer Scout and either remained in the same troop or joined an Explorer unit.

The new program calls for an optional setup that would allow a youth to remain in the troop as a Boy Scout or to transfer to the Explorer program when he reaches the age of 14. It is also required that the boy must be 14 and in the ninth grade at school or 15 years of age. A boy will not be permitted to remain in a scout troop while an Explorer.

The national executive committee has put the new program on an optional basis from January 1, 1958 until January 1, 1959, after which it will be mandatory.

The revision also will abolish the Explorer awards for advancement and all scouts will work toward the regular Star, Life and Eagle awards.

The committee said it was making the change in order to appeal more to the interests of the older boys. Studies showed it was difficult to gear all the programs of a Boy Scout troop to appeal to all ages within the troop.

Reddick Faces More Trouble

BALTIMORE (AP) — The legal troubles of Dr. Robert H. Reddick, one-time leader of a rump board of Maryland medical examiners, multiplied again today.

A warrant accusing the former State psychiatrist with unlawfully affixing a public seal of Maryland to a medical certificate was issued in Baltimore police court at the request of the state's attorney's office. Bail was fixed at $5,000.

State's Atty. J. Harold Grady said the newest complaint against Reddick was turned over to him by James H. Norris, assistant attorney general of Maryland.

Reddick already is free under bail on two criminal charges here and a charge of conspiring to sell medical licenses in California.

Parked Truck Drifts, Crashes Over Wall

A rather spectacular truck crash occurred yesterday when about 70 feet.

A parked vehicle drifted down Wallace Street and plunged through a guard rail and over a wall onto steps leading down to Valley Street. No one was injured.

Joseph W. Richards, service man for the Cumberland Maytag Appliance Center, was the driver of the truck. He said he had parked the pickup truck along Wallace Street and had gone to the front porch of a house to deliver a package.

When he glanced around he saw the truck heading down the street. Richards said he "looked after it" but was too late and the truck plunged over the wall with the rear bumper remaining on

Pa. Flu Death Toll Hits 65

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two more flu-connected deaths were reported today, raising the Pennsylvania death toll to 65, second highest in the country. New York was first with more than 110.

The Pennhurst State School for the mentally retarded in Chester County said two more children had died there. This brought the death toll at the school to 15 since the outbreak of flu in the state earlier this month. Thirteen of the victims were children.

None of the deaths in Pennsylvania has been attributed directly to Asian flu. The State Health Department has confirmed only 49 Asian flu cases involving 18 counties.
